WHY Angie?

Angie Ates-Clark is an internationally recognized speaker and 4-time best-selling author. She has been featured in over 200 health and wellness publications, including the international Toxin Free Docuseries. For over 30 years, she has been dedicated to helping others find their voice and achieve their full potential.

From Angie:

I am a proud mom of 3 beautiful children and a bonus mom to 3. Yep, we have the Brady Brunch going on here 😊😊 I reside in the Outer Banks of North Carolina with my husband-Don.

I spent the first 20 years of my professional life in the corporate world, leading kick-ass teams for various retail companies and managing and producing millions of dollars in revenue. Within those 20 years, I worked with people of different backgrounds and personalities and went through many versions of 'me.' What I found is that we all are a reflection of our inner beliefs and outer experiences.

Due to multiple diagnoses of Autoimmune diseases, my corporate season and identity ended abruptly. That created its own set of challenges. This new season of desperation brought me to a career in the healing arts field as a holistic practitioner, ultimately owning and operating multiple integrative 6-figure wellness clinics - and YES, healing myself of those autoimmune diseases!

I have been forced to reinvent myself through divorces, career changes, and a good-ole life. Each season, I worked through more of my 'stuff,' healing deeper and deeper and moving towards finding 'me' again.

During this 15-year journey in the healing arts field, reaching the top of 2 Direct Sales companies and speaking internationally, I recognized that woman need to find their bold again.

I have made it my mission to bridge the gap between you being 'not enough' to get that job or be included in that event and being 'too much' with your strong, focused personality and goals.

So my mission and purpose is simple — I am here to help YOU - Be Your Own Kind of Bold.

This means helping you heal every part of you — permanently.
So YOU can shine and be confident that you ARE ENOUGH!

Only one question remains...
Are YOU ready to find your bold?
